

PRINTERS FOR CITY AND COUNTY.
Judicial sales, tax sales, all official proceedings of city and county published by authority.

The largest circulation in city, county, or state. Defense refutation.

General Traveling Agents—T. M. Atton and
H. E. Park.

MR. HILL AND THE NEWSPAPERS

We are glad to observe that the views of such able papers as the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, the Macon Telegraph, and the Columbus Times, in regard to the position of Mr. Hill are almost precisely similar to our own, and that they, in common with ourselves, regret and condemn the wholesale abuse of that gentleman which has been indulged in by some of our contemporaries. We repeat, we are no champion of Mr. Hill nor of any one else, for that matter. We are simply endeavoring to defend him from the aspersions that have recently been cast upon his character and his patriotism, and our defense of him is wholly apart from any bearing it may have upon the editorial question. In like manner we would defend Mr. Norwood or Governor Smith, or any other Georgian from groundless aspersions upon their patriotism.

THE SUPREME COURT OF FLORIDA AND THE CAVASSING BOARD.

It will be seen from our telegrams that the radical members of the canvassing board concluded to meet and recount the returns, but in doing so they disobeyed the express mandate of the court. The order under which the board reassembled commanded them, in express terms, to canvass the returns from their face only; but McLain and Cowgill went beyond this, threw out Clay county and counted the contested votes from Baker. In doing this these radical puppets exceeded their functions, and it remains to be seen what course the court will take. It is clearly the duty of that tribunal to hold them for contempt in disregarding its mandate.

The steamship Harvey Mills, which was loading at Port Royal with cotton for Liverpool, was discovered to be on fire yesterday between decks. All efforts to extinguish the flames proved unsuccessful, and in an attempt to tow her to the wharf the vessel, rounded. The Harvey Mills had 6,564 bales of cotton on board, valued at about a half million dollars. She was about to sail for Liverpool. At her accounts the fire was still burning.

Russia complains of a lack of transportation. If the Atlanta drays were not kept so busy just now the czar might get several hundred of them—and he might get some any how if he is inclined to bid high. Let the czar speak. Business is business, and in this country the greenest persimmon raises the biggest pucker.

The latest is that Mr. James Gordon Bennett, the editor and proprietor of the polo organ, is about to marry and go to Europe. This is sad news. Who is to ride the ponies, and who is to keep the organ consistent two whole days out of seven? The country will assuredly suffer during his absence.

The Chicago Times thinks that it will be safer for Grant to take his little Cuban trip at once and let the people settle their own difficulties. This is true, but can the poor man spare the money? Since Black Friday, the poor man has been afraid to speculate much.

It is well that the Washington weather prophet has quit the business. In Atlanta, it has got to that pass that every man is his own prophet. The probabilities for to-day are that there will be some wind, a few clouds, with mud about in places.

The joint congressional committee, to which is delegated the preparation and report of a plan for counting the electoral vote, is composed of twelve lawyers, one manufacturer, and one banker.

It is hinted that the Pope will very likely appoint another American cardinal shortly, and that the appointment will fall upon Archbishop Bayley, of Baltimore.

The Cincinnati Enquirer is getting a large circulation in the south. It is the brightest, newest, and liveliest western paper that comes to this office.

Now, in the name of goodness, who is John Pope? Can this valuable warrior sit still and see the country go to wreck in this reprehensible manner?

He is said that Bayard, the newspaper of the Brooklyn Argus, carries on knitting with him to the office every morning. Such industry is commendable.

We have heard nothing lately of Field Marshal Murat Halsted. He has become a member of congress or started a bakery?

Now let the supreme court of Florida take McLain and Cowgill by the nape of the trowsers and shake them up a little.

Our government ought to send more troops to the south. The Flathead Indians are about to break out.

Judge Woods announces from Washington that he is not in Florida and has no intention of going there.

WHAT returning board proposes to count out the Flathead Indians?

NEW YORK NEWS.
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Ex-Senator John W. Nye is dead.

Miss Amy Fawcett, the English actress dead.

Mr. D. Swan, a Wall street broker, disappeared. Before leaving he left his misappropriated funds in trust for his brother and sister to $600,000. He is also in debt to $400,000 or $500,000 to the Union Club, of which he was one of the old members.

Mr. Fawcett's opera house was destroyed by fire. Frederick & O'Neill's gallery in the third story of a valuable pictures was also destroyed. Their loss is estimated at $60,000.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

VOL. IX.

ATLANTA, GA., FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 29, 1876.

NO 167

CONTUMELY OF COURT.

THE OLIVE BRANCH.

MEETING OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HARMONY.

THE FLORIDA RETURNING BOARD DISREGARD THE MANDATE ORDERING THEM TO CANVASS THE FACE OF THE RETURNS.

They Count in Brow, But Count Out Tidies.

The Congressional Conference Committee Working with the Problem Before Them.

A Milk-and-Water Man Fined $250 for Playing His Trade.

DIVIDING THE SPOILS.

THE FLORIDA BOARD IN CONTEMPT OF THE SUPREME COURT.

They Caucused the Vote so as to Elect the State Democratic Ticket, and Stick to Their Infamy on the Electoral Vote—Sharp Surprise of the Campaign.

Special Dispatch to the Constitution.

TALLAHASSEE, December 28.

The situation in Florida, as you have been made aware, has all been been.

FULL OF SHARP SURPRISES and extraordinary sensations. It was a surprise, at least to the politicians in this quarter, when ex-Governor Brown, of your state, suddenly one morning, with his bland and mean smile, slipped into the democratic councils and quietly took his seat.

FULL TO THE CHIN of Florida, and, thoroughly prepared to argue and contest any and every point that might be brought up by the radicals, it was a surprise, when Stevens announced that he was the proper person to canvass the electoral returns. It was a surprise, to him and his colleagues was Governor Brown.

THROUGH IT WITH A BOUND TURN before Judge White's court. It was a surprise when the supreme court, composed entirely of republicans, ordered the returning board to re-cuas the vote of the state from the face of the returns. It was a surprise, little short of a sensation, when Stevens.

STEAKS SURPRISED HIS CLAIM and requested the board to obey the mandate of the court, and it was a surprise when the board openly defied the highest tribunal of the state, and refused to meet to recount the vote. All these surprises, as you may well believe, have conspired to make matters unusually lively in this quiet little village.

THE CROWNING SURPRISE. But the crowning surprise came to-day when the board, after refusing to meet, received its action, met, received the vote and gave the state to Drew by one hand, and minority to another, and minority to another, by two hundred and six majority. In order to do this, they threw out Clay county and counted the contested vote of Baker, thus acting.

CONSULTING THE CROWNING SURPRISE. But the crowning surprise came to-day when the board, after refusing to meet, received its action, met, received the vote and gave the state to Drew by one hand, and minority to another, and minority to another, by two hundred and six majority. In order to do this, they threw out Clay county and counted the contested vote of Baker, thus acting.

CHARGE OF POLICY. A glance at the Reasons Inducing it Special Dispatch to the Constitution.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA., Dec. 28.

It is now ascertained beyond doubt that the policy of the republican managers at Washington is to force the inauguration of Hayes at all hazards. When Grant said "We will have peace if we have to fight for it," he meant "peace" under Hayes rule.

Ex-Attorney General Williams came here with the mandate of the court, and he will be sustained.

The Florida republicans were determined upon submitting gracefully, and gave the state to Tilden as well as Drew. The arrival of Williams and his gang changed this posture, and now the house is in the hands of the returning board.

Commissioner Duell, of the patent office, has resigned, and embarks in the law business in New York. Chandler accepts his resignation in flattery terms.

Washington, Dec. 28.—A bill was introduced in the house by Mr. Douglass authorizing the secretary of the treasury to purchase the Freedmen's savings bank building in this city for government uses at a sum not to exceed $300,000, also authorizing the commissioners to appropriate the sum to the use of the Freedmen's bank.

It is certain that General Anderson did not deposit with Mr. Ferry the republican electoral vote of Louisiana when he was here on Christmas day. Judge Spofford is coming with the Tilden vote of Louisiana. There is dissatisfaction with Ferry for withholding the state from the radical managers when they were democratic contestants, and it is suggested that Anderson was advised to withhold the state from the Tilden vote of Baker county. This gives Drew 166 and Hayes 98 majority. Cooke files his protest, and the committee assemble to-day to review the action of the board.

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 28.—The return of the majority of the canvassing board to answer to the writ of habeas corpus, which was filed at 12 o'clock. It gives the same figure sent out last night and arrives at the same time as the contested vote of Baker county. This gives Drew 166 and Hayes 98 majority. Cooke files his protest, and the committee assemble to-day to review the action of the board.

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 28.—The return of the majority of the canvassing board to answer to the writ of habeas corpus, which was filed at 12 o'clock. It gives the same figure sent out last night and arrives at the same time as the contested vote of Baker county. This gives Drew 166 and Hayes 98 majority. Cooke files his protest, and the committee assemble to-day to review the action of the board.

The supreme court did not meet to-day. The justices were in an adjourned session to see Justice Westcott this p.m. to get him to request the attendance of the absent justice. They will not probably consent, and court will be held on a day or two to act on the return of the board.

Atmosphere Cooke filed his protest to-day against the action of the majority of the board in Clay and Baker counties. Everything indicates a speedy & sure of difficulties here. He could well accept the present return or require the two out to be re-canvassed, which will only require a few moments.

AN ICE STRIKE. Roundout, December 28.—Four hundred and fifty men at the Kruecker's hotel, a hotel built for higher wages. They say this is the beginning of the movement along the entire river. About five thousand men are usually employed, say no ice shall be housed until the company return to their old prices.

THE FLORIDA RETURNING BOARD DISREGARD THE MANDATE ORDERING THEM TO CANVASS THE FACE OF THE RETURNS.

They Count in Brow, But Count Out Tidies.

The Congressional Conference Committee Working with the Problem Before Them.

A Milk-and-Water Man Fined $250 for Playing His Trade.

EUROPE.

TURKEY A Little Less War-like—Gambetta at a Naval Station Detain in the French Assembly.

A Full and Searching Examination into Precedents—Opposition to the Supreme Court—Concordance Between the French and the Power When the Report May be Expected.

Dispatch to the Constitution.

WASHINGTON, December 28.—The senate committee on devising a measure for examining and verifying the electoral vote had a protracted session, all the members being present but Mr. Knott, who was absent. The committee had proceeded with the preliminary work by examining and discussing the course pursued by each house for meeting in joint convention, and their decisions in such convention in declaring the vote for president and vice-president had been taken down by those which followed, but we have reason to believe that even the rights of the senate over the rights of the house.

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December 28.—The Post in its leading article says: "The exciting event of the day is the first alarming telegraphic news from Europe, which has been received in time to be of great interest. The news is that the government intends to adopt a policy of non-interference in the controversy over the rights of the senate."

London, December

The Atlanta Daily Constitution

FRIDAY MORNING, DEC. 28, 1877.

1877 THE 1877

Daily Constitution

ATLANTA, GA.

BRIGHT, NEWSY, SPARKLING

RELIABLE.

Since the recent changes in the management of THE DAILY CONSTITUTION, the paper has been overwhelmed with notices of favoring praise and endorsement on the part of the press of Georgia and other states, and with words of substantial encouragement and approval from the people. The newspaper is the best, brightest and most enterprising journal in the South, and it is destined to be the people's— their master's— friend. It is a rare writer— even a doctor— to incur. It is the purpose of the conductors of THE CONSTITUTION, to make their journal so far as the publication of the latest and freshest news is concerned.

The Most Enterprising in the South.

Some idea of their plan in this respect may be gathered from the manner in which the news of the recent election was laid before the readers of the paper. THE CONSTITUTION has special correspondents stationed in New York, Columbus, and New Orleans, and its special telegraphic room is a rare writing— even a doctor— to incur. It is the purpose of the conductors of THE CONSTITUTION, to make their journal so far as the publication of the latest and freshest news is concerned.

Important Political Events.

THE CONSTITUTION, by means of its large and adroitly organized staff of correspondents and reporters, is in full and reliable position to express, propose and publish the earliest chronicle of all the stirring events of the year. Those who

A Paper from the Capital. would do well to subscribe for THE CONSTITUTION at once. It will contain full reports of the proceedings of the general assembly, the goings of political circles, and a reliable resume of everything of importance that occurs in Atlanta. As to the political course of the paper, it is needless to say that it will be the firm and unswerving champion of Southern and National Democracy.

On matters affecting the rights of the south as a section or the rights of the states, it will speak with no unfeeling boldness. Political matters will be discussed in the most forcible language, with an eye single to the maintenance of constitutional liberty, honest government, and the best interests of Georgia and of our nation. It will take position on all questions of public concern, and in matters affecting Georgia, THE CONSTITUTION proposes to be a leader and not a follower of public opinion. As for the rest, the

Will Speak for Itself.

Its conductors will spare no exertions of money, energy or skill to make THE CONSTITUTION just such a journal as the people desire to have at their state capital—a journal to which they can look with pride, confident that the views of its editors, if not always infallible, are at least always sound, and that it is safe to confide in the paper. The paper will be a good one, and it is to be hoped that it will be prompt in taking position upon every public issue that may arise, and fearless in maintaining its opinions. THE CONSTITUTION, after the first of January, will be

The Largest Daily in the State, containing thirty-six long columns, and other improvements will be added from time to time. The collection of Georgia news is a specialty and the freshest intelligence from all parts of the State will be served up in a style as unique and pleasant.

The Weekly Constitution

is a carefully condensed epitome of all that is newsy, fresh, brilliant and entertaining in the daily edition—the very cream and essence of the week's news.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

(variously in advance.)
DAILY EDITION
One year.....$10.00
Six months.....5.50
Three months.....3.00
One month.....1.00

WEEKLY EDITION
One year.....$2.00
Six months.....1.00
One month.....0.50Address:
CONSTITUTION PUB. CO.,
ATLANTA, GA.

THE COAL STRIKE.

The strike now extends," says the Knoxville Tribune, to every coal mine in Tennessee where free labor is employed; and only three miners in that state are worked by convicts. It began at Coal Creek, where the miners were receiving three cents a bushel for digging coal. They demanded four cents, on the ground that they were virtually compelled to purchase all their supplies at "company stores," in which exorbitant prices are the rule—in other words, that the companies practically "paid off" in goods at their own prices. On this ground the strikers were clearly in the right; but when they declined to go to work at the rate of three cents a bushel in cash, their case was materially altered.

The coal operators have determined not to pay more than three, and the miners not to take less than four cents. At the Soddy and Sale creek mines, the price for digging was only two cents, and the new demand at these mines is only two and a half cents. This fact goes to show that three cents in cash is a fair price for mining in East Tennessee.

This strike is a great hardship in Knoxville, and even in Chattanooga. We feel it in Atlanta, where "Coal Creek" has always been a popular supply from the mines on the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad. In the meantime, while the proprietors of the suspended mines are casting about for means to prosecute their enterprises. The favorite scheme seems to consist in an extension of convict labor to all the mines. The Knoxville papers dislike the remedy, but prefer it to a long-continued suspension of the coal interests of the state. If adopted, it would be a remedy that would scarcely afford us much relief during the present winter, and it is to be hoped for the good of all concerned that the miners and proprietors will be able to compromise. Let them appoint a concurrent committee, and trust to luck. The problem is certainly not more difficult than the one that the electoral committee have in hand, and all look for a satisfactory outcome in the latter case.

A WARNING TO MACON VOTERS.

THE VICTORY OF A HARDWARE CLERK.

Miss F. S. Emerson, formerly of Michigan, now dwells in our sister city of Macon. She was a dweller there when the recent election occurred, and the sights she saw, and the stories she heard, seem to have been altogether too much for her delicate nerves. "Good morning, sir," said the sprightly-looking man, as he began to open his wallet. "Pay out."

"Don't want any cutlery," responded the clerk.

"Don't want any chisel, nor hammer, nor cabinet tools."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

By this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

"Don't want any hand-saws, stores, cradle blades, axes, nor anything else. Don't want a tin-horn."

At this time the sprightly-looking man had unhooked the strap of his wallet, dived into it and brought to light a small, curiously-shaped machine, which he held up to view with a proud smile.

"This, sir," said he, "is a model of a policeman's celebrated cooking stove and wash pot combination. You will perceive that the movement is very simple."

"My friend," interrupted the head clerk, "do you know that he is to be nominated at any moment? The returning board is in session right here."

"But, my dears sir!"

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.
Chairman,
DANIEL PITTMAN,
For Sheriff,
A. M. COOPERSON,
For Clerk,
JAMES D. COLLINS,
SAM R. HOYLE,
For Tax Receiver,
For Treasurer,
G. C. PAYNE,
For Surveyor,
B. F. WALKER,
For Clerk,
WM. KILLE.

surviving parties. There was no one saved me but the true democratic party. Very near every warrant that has been issued from my office I have been brought up to give an account before court, civil or criminal, and still continue trying to make capital out of my office, because I was a colored man and held an office. There is no other reason.

—Thomasville Enterprise.—Joseph Taylor, a colored man who has been in this place for some time past, died last Wednesday night. He was a quiet, unoffensive man and a true democrat. He had been suffering from consumption for a long time, and he has been cared for almost entirely by the white people, and the colored colored democrats in town. The colored men, however, seemed to have completely ignored his existence, and no one of them offered to officiate at his funeral, which was conducted by the pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Cook. It is due, however, to Rev. Delamotta, of the African Baptist church, that he was at that time engaged in conducting the funeral services of another colored man and could not be present. We regret to see this feeling towards the colored men who choose to exercise the privilege of being free men.

A Valuable Medicinal Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual known as Hottot's Almanac is now ready, and may be obtained, fr. 40 of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America and India, in every valuable portion of the Western Hemisphere. The Almanac is issued annually at the commencement of every year for over a space of five years. It combines with the soundest practical advice for the prevention and removal of health, a large amount of interesting light reading, and a series of articles relating to various physiological subjects, are prepared with great care, and will be entirely accurate. The issue of Hottot's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hottot & Son, Philadelphia, Pa., on receipt of a ten cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

Special Notices.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.
With weight of evidence of the nervous system, it is often difficult to ascertain, whether a nervous condition, or a nervous disease, is the cause of the trouble.

HOMEOPATHIC SPECIFIC NO. 28.

It tones up the system, disperses the gloom and despondency, removes the depression, and restores the spirits.

DR. H. JONES' HOMEOPATHIC COMPANY.

105 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

angus & dwight

Thom's CONSUMPTIVE Cure.

Mrs. J. T. Throck and Company, Griffins, Ga.

—My sister, Mrs. Davis Williams, has been confined to her bed from lung disease for over a year, after taking one bottle of your consumptive Cure. Last summer she has been able to ride horseback ten miles to and from town, and care for her children.

ADDRESS HUMPHREY'S HOMEOPATHIC COMPANY.

105 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

angus & dwight

Announcements.

For Ordinary of DeKalb County,

L. A. Simpson, Jr., the able and efficient Clerk, who has served the people so faithfully for the last four years, and who has had ten years experience in said office, at the ensuing January election.

—A negro and five head of stolen cattle were arrested in Macon on Wednesday.

—Jeff Long, of Macon, will probably feel more stuck up than ever now.

Mr. Stephens, in writing to him recently, calls him "Honorable."

—Jeff was inquiring about the deposit made by the colored people in the Freedman's bank, and the answer he received as to the probability of depositors ever getting anything must have been exceedingly soothed to his feelings. Alas! poor dues!

—A number of negroes waylaid Mr. R. Jacoby, a merchant of Geneva, on Saturday night, and after knocking him senseless rifled his pocket of $3, all the money he had on his person. They evidently thought he had a larger sum, as he was seen the night before with $500. Fortunately, Mrs. Jacoby carried the money home in the evening, or the ruffians would have secured the whole amount. Four negroes have been arrested.

—A crit containing sixty or seventy bushels or corn, belonging to Mrs. Dennis Williams, of Thomas county, was burned by an incendiary last week.

—A negro woman was found dead in her bed in Macon on Tuesday.

—Mr. Samuel Martin, of Augusta, was shot in the neck on Christmas night. The wound is a very painful one.

—The Deutscher Schuetzen club of Augusta, gave a grand Christmas festival on Wednesday evening.

—Mr. W. E. Jackson, president of the Augusta cotton factory, regards the outlook for cotton manufacturing in Georgia as decidedly more encouraging than it has been for one or two years past.

—The Savannah News says that Mr. W. L. Clark, superintendent of the Mobile and Girard railroad, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at the Sycamore house. Mr. Clark is here for the purpose of arranging for the transportation of the machinery for the new cotton factory just erected in Columbus by the Eagle & Phoenix manufacturing company, and is the third mill owned by that well-known and ably-managed corporation. The mill will have a manufacturing capacity equal to the two factories now in operation. It will be especially devoted to the manufacture of checks and stripes, and will have 20,000 spindles, 800 looms and 160 carding machines, aggregating 900,000 pounds in weight. The greater part of the machinery is being made in Biddeford, Maine, and portions of it in Philadelphia and New York. The machinery is expected to arrive within the next six weeks, and the mill, when in operation, will use 20 bales of cotton per day and give employment to seven hundred hands. One gratifying feature in the enterprise is the fact that the managers expect the increased demand for their goods to be fully equal to their enlarged facilities.

—Grandison Harris, the colored jester of the peace in Augusta, prints the following card: I return my thanks for the honor that has been conferred on me by the citizens of this district by nominating me as a candidate for magistrate of the 12th district, G. M., for a vote of ayes, 70; nays, 5. I have a few words to say to you in regard to my year's suffering. I have been arrested about twenty odd times by consequently.

—The Savannah News says that Mr. W. L. Clark, superintendent of the Mobile and Girard railroad, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at

the Sycamore house. Mr. Clark is here

for the purpose of arranging for the transportation of the machinery for the new cotton factory just erected in

Columbus by the Eagle & Phoenix

manufacturing company, and is the third

mill owned by that well-known and ably-managed corporation. The mill

will have a manufacturing capacity

equal to the two factories now in operation. It will be especially devoted to the manufacture of checks and stripes,

and will have 20,000 spindles, 800 looms

and 160 carding machines, aggregating 900,000 pounds in weight. The greater part of the machinery is being made in

Biddeford, Maine, and portions of it in

Philadelphia and New York. The machinery is expected to arrive within the next six weeks, and the mill, when

in operation, will use 20 bales of cotton

per day and give employment to seven hundred hands. One gratifying feature

in the enterprise is the fact that the managers expect the increased demand

for their goods to be fully equal to their enlarged facilities.

—Grandison Harris, the colored jester

of the peace in Augusta, prints the following card: I return my thanks for the honor that has been conferred on me by the citizens of this district by

nominating me as a candidate for magistrate of the 12th district, G. M., for a vote of ayes, 70; nays, 5. I have a few words to say to you in regard to my year's suffering. I have been arrested about twenty odd times by consequently.

—The Savannah News says that Mr. W. L. Clark, superintendent of the Mobile and Girard railroad, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at

the Sycamore house. Mr. Clark is here

for the purpose of arranging for the transportation of the machinery for

the new cotton factory just erected in

Columbus by the Eagle & Phoenix

manufacturing company, and is the third

mill owned by that well-known and

ably-managed corporation. The mill

will have a manufacturing capacity

equal to the two factories now in operation. It will be especially devoted to the manufacture of checks and stripes,

and will have 20,000 spindles, 800 looms

and 160 carding machines, aggregat-

ing 900,000 pounds in weight. The greater part of the machinery is being made in

Biddeford, Maine, and portions of it in

Philadelphia and New York. The

machinery is expected to arrive within

the next six weeks, and the mill, when

in operation, will use 20 bales of cotton

per day and give employment to seven hundred hands. One gratifying feature

in the enterprise is the fact that the managers expect the increased demand

for their goods to be fully equal to their

enlarged facilities.

—Grandison Harris, the colored jester

of the peace in Augusta, prints the

following card: I return my thanks for

the honor that has been conferred on

me by the citizens of this district by

nominating me as a candidate for magistrate of the 12th district, G. M., for a vote of ayes, 70; nays, 5. I have a few words to say to you in regard to my

year's suffering. I have been arrested about twenty odd times by consequently.

—The Savannah News says that Mr. W. L. Clark, superintendent of the Mobile and Girard railroad, arrived in the city yesterday, and is stopping at

the Sycamore house. Mr. Clark is here

for the purpose of arranging for the transportation of the machinery for

the new cotton factory just erected in

Columbus by the Eagle & Phoenix

manufacturing company, and is the third

mill owned by that well-known and

ably-managed corporation. The mill

will have a manufacturing capacity

equal to the two factories now in operation. It will be especially devoted to the manufacture of checks and stripes,

and will have 20,000 spindles, 800 looms

and 160 carding machines, aggregat-

ing 900,000 pounds in weight. The greater part of the machinery is being made in

Biddeford, Maine, and portions of it in

Philadelphia and New York. The

machinery is expected to arrive within

the next six weeks, and the mill, when

in operation, will use 20 bales of cotton

per day and give employment to seven hundred hands. One gratifying feature

in the enterprise is the fact that the managers expect the increased demand

for their goods to be fully equal to their

The Atlanta Daily Constitution.

Preferred Locals.
SUGAR CREEK PAPER MILLS.
S. & D. McNAUL & CO.
S. & D. McNAUL & CO. are the sole proprietors of the SUGAR CREEK PAPER MILLS.
They are the only manufacturers of paper in the State of Georgia.

The People Want Proof.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such a sense of its success and superior virtue as Buchanan's German Spruce for severe Coughs.
Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, any disease settled on the heart, &c. &c. A receipt of one part of this medicine will afford a sample Bottle to ten cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has already been introduced into this country from Germany, and its wonderful virtues are astounding every one that uses it. Three dollars will relieve any one that uses it.

Try it. It is sold by Druggists
H. H. HANKEY & CO., Wholesale Agents.White Pine Nuts, Beers, Blinds, Mantels, Moldings, etc., at the lowest prices and of the best quality. All orders will have our prompt attention.JENNINGS & CO.,
31 and 32 Broad street, near Bridge.JENNINGS & CO.,
205 Peachtree street.

New Advertisements.

The Misses Skinner will reopen their school for Rent—apply at 26 Broad street.

Wanted—Apply to E. T. Payes.

Great Sacrifice—apply at 174 Whitehall street.

Joyner & Ellis—Safe Saturday.

Solen—E. Barber.

Schedule—Georgia Railroad.

J. T. Gandy—Sundays.

Sunday School Scholars—Chas. E. Boynton.

Superintendent.

All official members—W. F. Cook, &c.

The undersigned—N. L. Angier and others.

A STRANGE CASE.

AN ESCAPED CONVICT ARRESTED
AFTER NINE YEARS OF LIBERTY.He Charged with Being Accessory to the Killing of a Man Thirteen Years Ago.

Yesterday a white man, apparently about 30 or 35 years of age, was brought to this city under arrest, charged with being accessory to a most dastardly murder, thirteen years ago. Arrests for crimes as far back as this are unusual, and the facts have been a baffle to gather form a singular story.

The name of the prisoner is Thomas J. Anderson, and the murder in which he is implicated was committed during the war, in the year 1864.

He was a soldier in the 10th Georgia, John C. Breckinridge's regiment.

Anderson was a white man. It seems that the prisoner belonged to aBOY OF GEN. WHEELER'S CAVALRY, and the squad to which he was attached was going from Dahlonega to Rabun county after some horses that had been left behind there.

On their way the party passed Brewster's house, and all went in except Anderson who remained outside to hold the horses. The party entered the house and were soon surrounded by a hostile crowd.

Anderson was shot in the back, and he was carried out and left behind. The party then rode on, leaving Anderson to his fate.

Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.

Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.

Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.
Anderson was captured by a party of
Confederates, and was shot in the back.